

What a confidence builder Cloud Nine has been for our twins. Elizabeth was born with Goldenhar Syndrome. A syndrome that resulted in a cleft lip, cleft palate, a missing ear, a partial mandible, some spinal scoliosis, and dermoid cysts in both eyes. Her twin sister Madeline was born with a slight heart murmur.

To date, Elizabeth has had 15 surgeries and will have many more as she grows. That being said, Elizabeth needed a boost in her confidence. Being on top of Cloud Nine's gentle giants, gave our children a great sense of accomplishment. Elizabeth appeared to be in control of something other than her recovery from a surgery. From day one Elizabeth's spine was a little straighter and her smile a little wider. In our specific situation, we try to keep our attention on both girls equally. It's become a great joy as a parent to see our daughters enjoying a sport on an even playing field. I would highly recommend Cloud Nine to help with the therapeutic aspect as well as the emotional growth that children with disabilities so desperately need. I am willing to share my experiences with any families that have questions or concerns.

The Adams Family
(yes our real name)
Michael, Jackie, Elizabeth and Madeline

Untitled

Dear Cloud Nine,

I am a very proud mom of a son diagnosed with Aspergers and I would do anything for him if it would help him in anyway. I heard of Cloud Nine over the radio and I immediately called and talked to a wonderful lady named Pat and the story began. I have seen my son gain social skills while working with wonderful and caring volunteers that assist the kids as they ride. He has also made friends with one very special buddy that loves to ride as well.

It is so wonderful to know that issues that are normally addressed in school with O.T. are carried out at lessons in a fun and playful manner. I also would just like to say how gentle and loving the horses are no doubt to Pat's wonderful skills at horsemanship. Cloud Nine is a blessing and I can't wait to see what other benefits are coming are way.

Thank you to everyone at Cloud Nine for your hard work, caring heart and devotion to our children. You guys are the miracles to me well of course next to my son. See I told you I was a proud Mom.

-Crystal Thomas